Resolution Recognizing Alzheimer’s Disease as a Public Health Crisis Impacting the Nation’s Health Care Infrastructure

WHEREAS, Alzheimer's is a type of dementia that causes problems with memory, thinking and behavior with symptoms that usually develop slowly and get worse over time, becoming severe enough to interfere with daily tasks; and

WHEREAS, according to the Alzheimer’s Association, in 2018 there are 5.7 million Americans living with Alzheimer’s and by 2050 this number is expected to rise to nearly 14 million; and

WHEREAS, it is estimated that 16.1 million friends and family members of individuals with Alzheimer’s and other dementias will provide 18.4 billion hours of unpaid care in 2018, valued at more than $232 billion; and

WHEREAS, the direct costs to American society of caring for those with Alzheimer's will total an estimated $277 billion in 2018, including $186 billion in Medicare and Medicaid payments; and

WHEREAS, average per person Medicaid payments for a senior citizen with Alzheimer’s and other dementias are nearly 19 times higher than for seniors without these conditions; and

WHEREAS, of the total lifetime cost of caring for someone with dementia, 70 percent is borne by families - either through out-of-pocket health and long-term care expenses or from the value of unpaid care; and

WHEREAS, early diagnosis of Alzheimer's provides a number of important benefits to diagnosed individuals, their caregivers and loved ones, as well as society as a whole and it is estimated that early and accurate diagnosis could save up to $7.9 trillion in medical and care costs; and

WHEREAS, Alzheimer’s disease, which currently has no cure, is the sixth leading cause of death in adults age eighteen or older in the U.S.; and

WHEREAS, since the onset of Alzheimer's disease cannot yet be stopped or reversed, early detection and diagnosis allows people with dementia and their families not only a better chance of receiving and benefiting from treatment, care, and support services, but also more time to put legal, financial, and advance directives in place for the future; and

WHEREAS, state, local and tribal departments of health have the important responsibility of promoting and encouraging healthy behaviors among the general public, increasing early detection and diagnosis of disease and disability, reducing risk of future illness and injury, educating the health care workforce, monitoring and evaluating the health of the state, and addressing the needs of caregivers; and

WHEREAS, Alzheimer’s disease has historically been seen as an aging issue, Alzheimer’s is also a public health issue because the burden to society is large, the impact is major, and there are ways to intervene throughout the lifespan.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the National Lieutenant Governors Association recognizes Alzheimer’s disease as an urgent public health crisis impacting the nation’s health care infrastructure, necessitating implementation of expert guidance in Healthy Brain Initiative: State and Local Public Health Partnerships to Address Dementia, The 2018-2023 Road Map, from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the National Lieutenant Governors Association encourages its members to promote policies that support investment in a nationwide public health response to this crisis to reduce risk for cognitive decline, optimize the health, well-being, and functioning of people living with dementia and their caregivers, and mitigate associated costs for individuals and for the government by encouraging public health departments to implement effective Alzheimer’s interventions such as increasing early detection and diagnosis, reducing risk and preventing avoidable hospitalizations.
